HAS STRUCK A SNAG.

Carlisle's Bill Encounters One in the House.

ITS ADVOCATES DUMBFOUNDED.

The Proposal to Take a Final Vote on the Measure Defeated—Many Senators Believe the Senate Will Be Called Upon to Find a Remedy For the Difficulty Confronting the Country.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The Carlisle currency bill, which has been under debate in the house for about two weeks, was ignominiously ditched yesterday. It had not strength enough to surmount the first parliamentary obstacle placed in its way. The committee on rules, in obedience to the decree of the Democratic caucus, on Monday brought in an order to close general debate and proceed under the five-minute rule until Saturday when the final vote should be taken, but the supporters of the bill showed lamentable weakness. They were unable to order the previous question, the demand therefore being refused, first by a rising vote of 92 to 101, and then on a yeas and nays vote by 124 to 129.

The advocates of the bill were dumbfounded when they discovered that they had been pent in the preliminary skirmish, and the order was withdrawn. This was the first reverse the committee on rules had suffered in four years. An analysis of the vote shows that all of the 124 votes in favor of the motion were cast by Democrats, while 62 Republicans, 39 Democrats and eight Populists voted against it. Of the 39 Democratic votes against the motion, it was pointed out that 24 were cast by Democrats defeated for re-election.

After the vote diplomatic and post-office appropriation bills were passed. The former carries $1,562,118 and the latter $59,442,952.

THE SENATE MAY TAKE A HAND AND SEE WHAT IT CAN DO TO IMPROVE THE TREASURY'S CONDITION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Many of the Democratic senators received the announcement of the adverse vote on the currency bill as a summons to the senate to take the question up and find a way out of the difficulties with which the country finds itself confronted. Senator Voorhees took the first step for the formal consideration of the matter by issuing a call for a meeting of the finance committee to be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

This meeting is for the purpose of canvassing the entire situation and if possible devising some means of improving the condition of the treasury. So far as can be learned no measure has been prepared for submission to the committee, but the movers for the meeting hope that a general exchange of views on the part of members of the committee will indicate general lines upon which a bill may be framed which would stand a chance of receiving the approval of the committee and of the senate.

It is also understood that Senator Vest has in mind the outline of a plan for a bill which he may submit to the committee and which may prove the basis of future action.

An Extra Session.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—It is claimed that an extra session of the new congress is the only logical result of yesterday's action in the house.

The Senate Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Mr. Cockrell (Dem., Mo.), from the appropriation committee, reported the urgency deficiency bill to the senate yesterday. In reply to a question by Mr. Quay (Rep., Pa.), Mr. Cockrell said the committee had made no amendments to the bill as passed by the house to those provisions relating to the income tax.

Mr. Quay thought an amendment should be made to the law requiring a publication of the names and salaries of the employees of the corporations, and in this connection he created something of a sensation by saying that a gentleman high in political circles in Philadelphia had given as a reason why he could not preserve plighted faith and could not do what ought to be done regarding an important nomination that he was under a heavy salary from a great corporation and was compelled to do what the corporation desired. The bill will be called up for consideration today.

At 2 o'clock Mr. Pascoe (Dem., Fla.) addressed the senate on the Nicaragua canal bill. He announced that while favoring the construction of an interoceanic canal, yet he was opposed to the pending bill.

Another Surrender.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Director M. J. Elliott of the American Railway union surrendered himself Wednesday and was taken to jail in McHenry county to serve his sentence in the strike contempt case. Elliott was in Pennsylvania attending the funeral of his child and was unable to appear Tuesday when Debs and his associates were taken into custody.

Killed His Foreman.

NASHVILLE, Jan. 10.—Captain William Cheatham, a prominent farmer and well known turfman, living near this city, shot and fatally wounded the foreman of his dairy, H. C. King. The two men quarreled about Captain Cheatham's treatment of a negro boy on the farm. A scuffle ensued, and drawing a pistol Cheatham fired on King. The bullet entered the abdomen and produced death in a short while.

BREATHING EASIER.

Believed the Dangers of a Big Flood Are Passed at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 10.—The stage of the Ohio river here Wednesday at 6 p. m. was 31 feet 1 inch. The Ohio river Tuesday night began rising again. Wednesday morning it took a sudden spurt and rose six inches between 6 and 7 o'clock. At first this was looked upon with apprehension by local river men, and predictions of big water could be heard on all sides.

Later in the day, though, as the rate of increase was seen to lessen locally, and reports came in from above showing the rise to be slow at some points, and the stage stationary at others, matters began to look brighter.

About 10 o'clock Wednesday word was received that the river had begun to fall at Pittsburg. This seemed to justify the prediction that the local rise would not continue longer than today.

All danger of a tremendous river at the present time is believed by experienced river men to have passed, and the general opinion is that unless there is additional rainfall the river will go down before the end of the week.

WAS IN ARMENIA THEN

But Neither Saw Nor Heard Such Things as Have Been Published.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Senor Ximenes, a well known Spanish traveller, has just returned here after having completed a geographical mission for the Turkish government in Kurdistan and Mesopotamia, which lasted from March to November last. The gentleman happened to be in the Armenian province of Bitlis at the time of the alleged Sassoon disturbances and he declares that he neither saw nor heard anything to warrant the sensational stories told of Kurdish atrocities. He is disposed to lay much of the blame for the disturbed condition of Armenia on the American Methodist missions in Asia-Minor. The pupils of these missions, he says, are never satisfied to return to their homes and work their land. They continually speak of American liberty in nearly every case the Armenian agitators are shown to have been pupils of the Methodist missions.

Takes Her Final Vows.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—Yesterday in the quiet seclusion in the convent of the sisterhood, which she herself founded for the evangelization of the Indians and colored people of the United States, Mother Catherine Drexel made the final vows which were to unite her for the remainder of her life to the vocation of a religious. The ceremony was as quiet and as simple as possible, and was witnessed by scarcely half a dozen persons of the laity. Among the latter were Mrs. Edward Morrell, Mother Catherine's sister.

Convict Murderer Lynched.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Jan. 10.—George Coldhand, the convict who killed B. M. Gorge, a guard, and escaped, was lynched somewhere in Colquitt county Tuesday night. A posse of 50 men scoured the country for him to avenge the death of Gorge, and reports received yesterday say that the negro had been captured by the posse and swung to a limb. Coldhand confessed to having killed a man in Alabama, and it was because he was about to be identified that he killed Gorge to make his escape.

Killed at a Crossing.

BLOOMDALE, O., Jan. 10.—At the crossing of the Big Four, in the east end of the village, an eastbound freight train struck a carriage containing William Benz, his wife and 10-year-old daughter. Benz was almost instantly killed, and his body carried on the pile of the locomotive a distance of over 100 yards. Mrs. Benz sustained a fracture of both her limbs, and her daughter was injured internally, probably fatally.

CAMPDEN, Ark., Jan. 10.—Much excitement prevails, as the men who held up the St. Louis Southwestern train last week are being apprehended. N. C. Blankenship was arrested and carried to Texarkana. His accomplices appear to be green country boys, who were banded together under the leadership of a man who bears a bad reputation, and was known as "the Cook gang No. 2."

Father and Son Convicted of Murder.

MOBILE, Jan. 10.—Daniel and James Wilkinson, father and son, were convicted of the murder of Ed Chestang, a negro, and sentenced to life imprisonment. The Wilkinsons are white farmers, and killed Chestang because of a remark made by the latter that reflected upon them.

Woman Suicides by Shooting.

DALLAS, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Thomas T. Holloway, a native of Shelbyville, Ill., suicided here by shooting herself. Her mind was unbalanced. Mr. Holloway, her husband, is a prominent lawyer and well known through the south.

Pickle Factory Burned.

OMAHA, Jan. 10.—The pickle works of C. B. Gerner, valued at $30,000, burned Tuesday night. The fire department was unable to reach the 5-story building, which was located in the "bottoms."

Snow at Mobile.

MOBILE, Jan. 10.—Snow began falling here at 3 o'clock last night and continued for two hours, but the flakes barely reached the earth before melting. This is the first snow in two years.

FORT WAYNE, Jan. 10.—The two children of Mr. John Lora of New Haven, six miles east of this place, were burned to death Wednesday morning by a fire which destroyed the house, the mother being absent at the time.

OHIO BANK ROBBED.

Merchants' National of Defiance Out a Large Sum.

EVIDENTLY DONE BY EXPERTS

Where the Theft Work in Such a Smooth Manner That Until the Vault Is Opened by an Expert No Suspicion of Robbery is Aroused—Absolutely No Clue Left for the Officers to Follow.

DEFIANCE, O., Jan. 10.—This city was thrown into a panic yesterday afternoon by the discovery that the Merchants' National bank had been burglarized and between $10,000 and $25,000 in money taken. The robbery was the most clever ever perpetrated in this section of the country, and was undoubtedly the work of experts.

The building was apparently entered by the use of skeleton keys, and the combination of the vault worked. The inner safe was then dynamited, the vault being closed to deaden the sound of the explosion.

No Suspicion.

The heavy iron door of the large safe was then closed and the combination "killed" without leaving the slightest evidence of having been tampered with. The burglary occurred some time Monday night, but, owing to the fact that the bank officials on Tuesday morning found everything in perfect order with the one exception that the combination could not be worked, they had no suspicions, but telegraphed to Cincinnati for an expert, who succeeded in opening the safe only to discover that the bank had been robbed of all the money on hand by clever cracksmen.

Left No Clue.

The thieves have left no clue for the officers to follow. It is not known yet what the loss has been, and no examination will be made until after banking hours.

The Merchants' National bank has a capital stock of $100,000, and has done a large business with the trading business men and manufacturers of this city. The bank is situated in the very center of the city, and it seems strange that such a burglary could have been perpetrated and remain a profound secret for two whole days.

One Murder Follows Another.

PURCELL, I. T., Jan. 10.—Ex-Deputy Marshal Swain on his farm, 16 miles south of here, in an altercation with Carl Vincent, a deputy for the Ardmore court, shot and killed the latter and was himself shot and killed in return by Charley Vincent, son of Carl. The trouble is supposed to have originated over a dispute in regard to land. Swain was noted while on the marshal's force for having in the course of duty killed a number of desperate characters.

Proved What He Said.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 10.—In an address before the state board of agriculture W. C. Welles of Parkersburg, W. Va., charged that ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles W. Foster had manipulated his reports to show a falling off of the per capita and general circulation. He produced copies of the reports of what he said. His announcement created a sensation. The board of agriculture, the wool growers, beekeepers and other societies elected officers and adjourned.

Caught in Cogs.

MUNCIE, Ind., Jan. 10.—Charles Cunningham, night foreman of the chemical department of the pulp mill, was walking up on a gangway near the large vats, and parallel with a large cylinder upon which was a pair of heavy cog wheels. The place he was walking on was wet and he fell into the cog wheels. His left leg was crushed to pulp, and his right foot ground off. He also received other injuries which will cause his death.

Justifiable Homicide.

SOUTH ENID, O. T., Jan. 10.—The coroner's jury investigating the killing of Frank Smith and James Brown, alias W. A. Stewart, Sunday night, by Chief of Police Williams, returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. The investigation developed the fact that both of the deceased were members of a gang of bandits who have their headquarters 30 miles west of here in the Glass mountains.

They Will Resort to Dynamite.

MUNCIE, Ind., Jan. 10.—The good citizens of Cammack station have resolved to allow no saloon to disgrace their town, and they will now resort to dynamite to prevent it. Last Monday Charles Cartwright opened a saloon in the town, and eight hours later he was in jail. The citizens had fixed up a job and secured two minors who purchased the first drinks sold.

Kentucky Shooting Affray.

VANCEBURG, Ky., Jan. 10.—At the Kenton furnace, near the Carter and Lewis county line, a shooting affray took place between Harvey Brown and Howe Messer, two desperate characters. Brown shot Messer in the right breast. It is not known whether the wound is a fatal one. Brown is under indictment here for stealing meat.

The Thomas Murder.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 10.—Winifred E. Smith is on trial here for the murder of Weston B. Thomas. A jury has been sworn and the defense will be that Thomas was the aggressor and that Smith stabbed him with a small pocket-knife in self-defense.

THE LYNCHING OF NEGROES.

It is Not Probable That Congress Will Investigate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The probability that this congress will undertake the investigation of lynchings of negroes in the past few years, which various negro organizations have been demanding, and for which Representative Blair introduced a resolution, is not great. Today the house committee on labor, to which the Blair resolution had been referred, voted to report it back to the house with a request to be discharged from its consideration. After discussing the matter, the committee concluded that an investigation of the proposed nature did not come within its province having to do with labor matters. Any results to which it might lead would probably be recommendations for criminal legislation, and the judiciary committee was thought to be the proper body to deal with it.

Miss Ida Wells, the young colored woman who made an anti-lynching crusade in England, had written announcing her desire to address the committee and present evidence and communications had been received from many sources on the matter. The resolution covers all acts of unlawful violence and was directed at White Cap outrages as well as lynchings. Most interest was felt, however, in the latter and several southern members had expressed a desire to have the investigation carried to a conclusion, being convinced that it would prove that more negroes have been executed by mobs in northern and western cities than in the south, taking the Colorado population at the different sections as a basis for adjudgment.

The judiciary committee, however, has the Ricks case and other important matters on its hands and it is thought will hardly find time to conduct an inquiry of such magnitude in the few remaining weeks of this session, even if it desires to do so.

DOUBLE MURDER

Meager Details of the Killing of Two Men in Tennessee.

MEMPHIS, Jan. 10.—Meager details have reached here of a double killing in Hardin county. One Thomas, the most famous and desperate of southern moonshiners, was shot to death by a commercial traveler named Steele, who in turn, was shot to death by a party of Thomas' friends. The drummer was taken for a revenue spotter and the tragedy followed.

Thomas brutally murdered Dr. Martin of Kentucky at Red Sulphur Springs a week ago, and is also the same person whose arrest was attempted by Marshal Browne and posse of this city a couple of years ago, when that officer was seriously wounded and one of his deputies, named Garner, was slain.

Hardin county is located on the Tennessee river, just on the edge of the state, where the boundary separating Alabama and Mississippi meets the Tennessee line and is the ideal haunt for the reckless "shiners" that infest it.

THE FOUNTAIN OF LIFE.

Hoosiers Think They Have What Has Long Been Sought in Vain.

WABASH, Ind., Jan. 10.—The town of Jonesboro is excited over a find of mineral water, which is said to be a sovereign remedy for almost every disease flesh is heir to. The well from which it flows belongs to the Jonesboro Mining company, and was drilled for gas in 1892. A flow of water strongly impregnated with sulphuretted hydrogen was struck. Many farmers in the vicinity, who have used the water, state that they have been permanently cured of stomach and kidney troubles, while rheumatism and neuralgia disappear as if by magic. Several hundred people are said to be drinking the water regularly for various affections, and there is a movement on foot to make the place a resort similar to French Lick.

HE WANTS DAMAGES.

A Brakeman Who, Seriously Wounded, Saved a Trainload of People.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 10.—Richard H. Neff has brought suit against the Lake Erie and Western Railroad company for $25,000 damages. Just two years ago Neff made himself famous by a heroic and successful effort to avert a wreck on the Lake Erie road. He was a brakeman on the train that went through the Miami bridge over the Wabash river and which resulted in a great loss of life to passengers. Although wounded, Neff managed to secure a lantern and crawled along the track and flagged the second section of the train and kept it from following the first section into the river. The legislature voted Neff a medal for his brave act. In his suit Neff alleges permanent injury.

Beat Their Father.

AKRON, O., Jan. 10.—William and Lewis Burkholder, 16 and 19, two country boys, were lodged in jail to await the action of the grand jury. Last night they were in the cellar drinking hard cider, and instead of desisting at their father's request, they beat him nearly insensible. An older brother, who interfered, was driven off with a revolver.

Defaulter Carter Sentenced.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Edward R. Carter, the defaulting transfer clerk of the National Bank of Commerce, was sentenced to six years and six months' imprisonment in the Kings county penitentiary by Judge Benedict of the United States circuit court. Carter pleaded guilty.

BRAZIL, Ind., Jan. 10.—The 3-year-old daughter of Frank Wilson was seriously, if not fatally, scalded by falling in a kettle of hot suds while visiting her grandmother. Mrs. Hemphill

MAN AND MONEY GONE

Treasurer of South Dakota Short $350,000.

HIS WHEREABOUTS UNKNOWN.

He Was Also President of a Bank Which Is Now in the Hands of an Examiner. Next to the State the Blow Falls Hard on His Bondsmen—He Was Last Seen in Chicago—Writes a Letter.

REDFIELD, S. D., Jan. 10.—Probably the most startling failure that has ever occurred in South Dakota or the north-west, was revealed yesterday in word received from William Walter Taylor, the outgoing state treasurer and president of the First National bank and Northwestern Mortgage Trust company of this city, that he would not appear to make his settlement at Pierre with his successor, Treasurer-elect Phillips of Deadwood. It is estimated that about $350,000 is missing with Taylor.

Aside from the financial loss the action of Taylor is felt terribly by all who have known and done business with him and the financial enterprises with which he has been connected in years past. He and his enterprise here have handled many thousands of eastern capital, and his bank here has always been regarded as one of the firm, safe institutions in the state. On Tuesday morning his bank here opened for business as usual, but later decided to close the bank subject to examination by the comptroller of the currency, and that official was notified at once. The action was taken for the protection of the bank and its many depositors.

Cashier Humphrey declares that deposits will be paid in full as soon as the government examiner concludes his examination, as there is an excess of fully $60,000 in good paper besides about 40 per cent deposited in other banks. The bank here is not compromised financially by Taylor's default. It is stated authoritatively that after the examination of the bank, and its credit is restored, it will reorganize and open up for business. The worst blow falls upon Taylor's bondsmen, many of whom reside here, and are representative and leading business men of Redfield. Taylor was last seen in Chicago on Jan. 4 by a citizen of this place.

A letter dated New York, Jan. 6, was received yesterday from Taylor. In it he said he did not intend to return, that his friends had deserted him, and that although he had many excuses, he would make none.

It develops that a plaster mortgage reached Redfield yesterday morning, and was duly filed in the register of deeds office, transferring to a company in Chicago all his real estate and chattel in this city and Spink county.

Next to the state, the blow falls terribly hard on his principal bondsmen, who reside here. They qualify in sums representing all they have in the world. The entire city used the bank for a depository, hence a deadly paralysis has affected all the arteries of trade and social life.

Taylor is about 41 years old, married, but has no children. He came to Redfield from Lafayette, Ind., about the fall of 1885 and opened a banking business. He soon secured the entire field, two other banks going out of business. Taylor got into politics in 1890. He had the confidence of everybody.

Comptroller Eckels has wired that Examiner Zimmerman has been ordered to come here at once and take charge of the bank. The bank had a capital of $50,000; a surplus of $20,000, and did a large business.

Miners Entombed.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 10.—Adam Burke and Charles Dietzel are entombed behind a big mass of coal in Richardson colliery. The coal fell Tuesday afternoon and it is believed Dietzel is killed. The voice of one man can be heard by the men who are working to rescue the victims. The colliery is located at Glen Carbon and belongs to the Reading company. The men were at work driving a heading when a pillar commenced running and closed them in.

Old Feud Ends in Murder.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 10.—A tragedy growing out of politics occurred near Smith's mill Tuesday night. James Dorman, a Kolb leader, and the Parvin boys, Oates followers, met at Hopewell church and an old feud was renewed. Dorman attacked Van Parvin with a club. Bill and Tate Parvin rushed to Van's assistance, but just then Van shot and killed Dorman. Tate Parvin surrendered yesterday. The other two are in hiding.

Fire at Lapaz, Ind.

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Jan. 10.—Fire destroyed the fire residence of ex-Coroner J. J. Hamilton at Lapaz, this county, and the general store of Leonard Logan, adjoining. The loss on both will reach $10,000, partly insured. The buildings are supposed to have been set on fire.

Was Authority on Masonry.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 10.—Robert Macoy, aged 60, grand recorder of the grand commandery of the Knights Templar of the state of New York, died at his residence here. Mr. Macoy was the author, compiler and publisher of many books relating to Free Masonry.

Alleged Boy Burglars.

BLUFFTON, O., Jan. 10.—Bud Dillman, Charley Allison and Earl Lambert, 15-year-old boys of this place, were arrested and bound over to court on charges of burglarizing Bixel Brothers' grocery Sunday night.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1895.

Rain or snow; warmer.

ESCAPED Kentucky criminals will all make tracks for Cincinnati as soon as they learn of Judge Buchwalter's decision.

THE courts continue to rule against the Louisiana sugar growers who are fighting for last year's bounty. They may as well give up.

"Is the State of Ohio to harbor criminals?" is the inquiry of the Portsmouth Times. Well, Judge Buchwalter is trying to make Cincinnati a resort for all the murderers and rafe fiends in the South.

As soon as the Republicans got control of affairs down in Campbell this week they increased the salary of their County Judge $500. They probably feel that their stay in office will be limited to a few years and want to get all they can out of it. But how do the tax-payers like it?

With Hager and Hindman in Eastern and Southeastern Kentucky and Stone taking care of the western end of the State, Colonel Hardin and Colonel Clay will have only Central Kentucky to fight over in the gubernatorial contest. Still it's not definitely settled yet that Hager, Hindman and Stone will be in the race.

THE Irononian says that four years of Republican rule in Ohio has resulted in a practically "bankrupt treasury," which is only kept afloat by borrowing the revenues six months or a year in advance; the selling of bonds to pay current expenses; subterfuges in matters of finance which the State officials dare not discuss publicly; higher taxes and taxation in forms that are odious and unusual; and the debasement of the State judiciary to a mere party machine. What a grand record your party is making over in Buckeyedom, Br'er Davis!

SPEAKING of the present condition of the State Treasury, the Monticello News-Era presents an original plan for preventing the recurrence of a like condition in the future. It proposes that the State appropriate funds for the development of the "pauper" counties in the mountains and thus enable them by their increased wealth to pay something in the State Treasury in taxes, instead of being an expense to the remainder of the State, as are many of the counties at present. Republicans are such a progressive and thrifty set of fellows, they shouldn't wait for State aid up in these "pauper" counties. The "pauper" counties are most all Republican, you know, and they certainly have been drawing money out of the State Treasury long enough.

At Opera House To-night.

The Irononian of Ironton says: "Si Plunkard and his farmer band were waited into this city, Tuesday and for hours during the afternoon, furnished free entertainment and amusement for an immense crowd.

"Whistling Si" and his company furnished amusement for a crowded house at the Masonic, the production being the finest delineation of Yankee farm life ever seen in this city. J. C. Lewis as 'Si Plunkard' was as funny as advertised. The entire play was brimful of Yankee wit and humor, with many new and catchy specialties, and surpassed any farmer plays heretofore shown at the Masonic."

HEART OF NAPOLEON.

IT WAS SYMPATHETIC AND GUIDED A POETIC NATURE.

He Was Kind and Considerate as He Was Brave—Recent Testimony For This Side of the Great Soldier's Character, Which Has Not Always Been Recognized.

Speaking of Napoleon's boyhood, one who knows whereof he speaks says: "In his school days the 'grand homme' gave many indications of the very qualities which procured for him the splendid success which has brought him everlasting fame. His love of discipline, order and power was shown by the manner in which he controlled his schoolmates and constituted himself their leader, teaching them the art of war in mimic battles, constructing forts and battlements of snow in the playground in which many a fierce engagement was fought and won, with snowballs for cannon balls and ice pellets for shot. It is recorded that he undertook to reform the laxity of the college rules and regulations by addressing a letter to the junior master, indicating a system that would do away with the abuses, and that he applied these same rules afterward to the schools of Fontainebleau, Saint Cyr and Saint Germain." According to a recent writer, on one occasion he was directing a performance of the tragedy of Cæsar's death when the wife of the college porter endeavored to force her way into the assembly on the strength of her position, but Napoleon made short work of her. "Remove this woman," he cried, "who brings into our midst the license of the camp," an order instantly obeyed by his colleagues, much, it may be supposed, to the discomfiture of the good woman.

That Napoleon was at heart a great poet there can be no doubt. Mme. Remusat relates that he was a lover of Ossian, was fond of the twilight and melancholy music. The murmur of the wind enraptured him, and he would dilate enthusiastically on the moaning of the sea and the wild beauty of the tempest. His powerful imagination sought to grasp the unseen. He would sometimes amuse himself, while passing the evening in Josephine's drawing room, by telling or listening to ghost stories while the candles were shaded and the singers present executed music of a low, sweet, weird description to the accompaniment of stringed instruments. Doubtless this gift of a subtle imagination led Napoleon to suspect where it was unnecessary and look for a motive in every action of those around him. He believed all men liars until he proved them otherwise. He used to relate the story with great gusto that when he was a child one of his uncles predicted of him that he would govern the world, because he was an habitual liar. Of M. de Metternich he once said, "He approaches to being a statesman, he lies so well!"

Napoleon's life is an unending source of inspiration to the painter. David, Vernet, Scheffer, Steube and a host of others of his time have bequeathed to us some of the great battles and incidents of his career on undying canvas. To each picture is attached some interesting story. During the Italian campaign Napoleon was one night surveying the battlefield of Bassano; the moon illumined the sad scene of carnage; no sound disturbed the deep silence save the feeble groans of the dying and the moans of the wounded. Suddenly a dog crept forward from a dead body over which he was keeping watch; the poor animal retreated to his lifeless master, and then again, as though reluctant to abandon his efforts of reviving him, yet desirous of avenging his death.

Napoleon was deeply touched by the faithful friendship of the animal, who would not forsake his master like his human friends. "What a lesson for man!" cried Napoleon as he gazed on the pathetic spectacle. So strong was the impression made on his mind by that midnight episode of the battlefield that after 25 years he related it when banished to the rock of St. Helena.

Another instance of his real tenderness for the suffering and oppressed was during his Egyptian campaign. A poor fellah had been murdered by a tribe of Arabs who had entered with an armed band into a village and driven off the herds. Napoleon immediately commanded that a company of dromedaries and horsemen should go in pursuit of the guilty party. One of the sheiks, surprised at the indignation of the emperor, observed that it would not be wise for him to embroil himself with the Arabs, a dangerous people, for the sake of a miserable fellah. "Was he, then, thy cousin?" queried the sheik. "More than that," cried Napoleon, with vehemence, "all those whom I command are my children!"

Again, at the plague of Jaffa, Napoleon visited the hospital and endeavored to console the poor dying soldiers. Gros has attempted to convey an idea of this scene in his great painting of "The Plague of Jaffa," wherein he represents Napoleon touching the eruption of a soldier afflicted with the disease, an act no doubt prompted by his desire to inspire courage in those not afflicted as well as to evince his sympathy with the sufferings of his poor soldiers.—Exchange

Laundry War at Owenton.

Says the Owenton News: "There is a laundry war going on in town. From Saturday morning until Tuesday noon the solicitors for the Snow White company and the Pearl Surface and Chinese Shine are seen dodging in and out of houses, snatching the napkins off the table, untying the servants' apron-strings and diving into the dirty-clothes barrel like a turtle off a log. So energetic are these solicitors had a fellow with dirty linen on is likely to be feathered at any time. A party of these solicitors met a fellow on the corner of G. and H. streets the other day and lit him, and before he realized what had happened to him he had no underwear on, except a pair of socks. When a fellow sees one of them now he buttons up his coat and takes to the woods. Watch out for them, the umbrella man ain't no where."

Colonel Frank S. Owens.

Colonel Frank S. Owens suffered a second stroke of paralysis late last evening, and has been unconscious since 10 o'clock last night. His condition at 10 a. m. was extremely critical. His health has been failing since last spring. Although he has been very feeble, he was able to be on the street last evening at 4 o'clock.

Si Plunkard To-night.

Farmer J. C. Lewis, the Yankee comedy king, and his company of twenty first class artists will appear at the opera house to-night in that laughable comedy drama, "Si Plunkard," the only comedy founded on rural life away down East. There are would-be imitators of Mr. Lewis' success, but no equals. Do not confound "Si Plunkard" with plays of a similar character, as it is entirely different in plot, scenes and incidents and far superior in every respect.

The Modern Mother.

JOHN MARSHALL, grand nephew of Chief Justice Marshall, for many years employed in the law office of Dickinson, Thurber & Co., (Don M. Dickinson and Private Secretary Thurber), of Detroit, was found dead in a boarding house at Washington City a few days ago, the gas being turned on full and the doors and windows closed. The man had been unfortunate in attempting to secure a good permanent position under the government. Mr. Thurber had taken personal interest in the man, and when informed of his death gave instructions that his remains should receive proper care.

HIS THREE WIVES.

William Cox Entertained Them All at a New Year's Dinner, at Monticello.

DANVILLE, Ky., Jan. 8.—William Cox, a citizen of Monticello, Ky., ate his New Year's dinner around a board at which sat three of his wives, and he is only thirty-eight years of age.

This, at first glance, appears to be an astounding condition of affairs, but it is easily explained. His first wife was Miss Minerva Smith, who bore him nine children, and was afterward divorced. Mr. Cox then married Miss Julia Stephens, from which no children resulted, and he was soon divorced from her. He then wedded his present spouse, a Tennessee lady, and seven children have blessed their home.

His first two wives have married again, and there is now a feeling of perfect harmony and good will existing between them. On New Year's Day Mr. Cox spread a banquet at his home and invited his two former helpmeets to celebrate the event with him. They gladly responded, and the day passed without a ripple of dissatisfaction or unpleasantness to mar the occasion.

This matrimonial hero was first married at the age of fourteen, and if he keeps up his past record and lives out his three score and ten years, his name should adorn the pension rolls of Uncle Sam. Three wives and sixteen children at thirty-eight.

In the Police Court yesterday Judd Clark and Charles Travis were each fined $1 and costs for drunkenness. Conrad Smith was given a fine of $3 and costs for disorderly conduct.

VERY little tobacco has been sold so far in Owen County. In Carroll and other counties it is reckoned that from a half to two-thirds has been purchased by local buyers. Owen has one of the finest crops she ever grew.

FRANK A. BENUA, of Ripley, and Miss Helen Ellsberry, daughter of the late Hon. W. W. Ellsberry, of Georgetown, were married yesterday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Tarbell, in Cincinnati, by Rev. J. H. Lockwood.

GEORGE WASHINGTON, colored, was before Squire Bramel yesterday and was held in the sum of $50 to answer the charge of stealing coal out of C. and O. cars in Sixth ward. George wouldn't tell a lie; he acknowledged he had taken some coal.

THE new Kentucky Court of Appeals has been divided into two branches, Judges Hazlerigg, Grace and Paynter composing one, and Judges Lewis, Guffy and the Louisville Judge the other, with Chief Justice Pryor presiding over both divisions.

"If you can invent any better way of letting people know that you have after season bargains and dull time inducements than regular, persistent and extensive advertising in the local newspapers, then you are the discoverer of a new way of building business."—Exchange.

THE County Board of Equalization has finished reviewing the assessment of Lewisburg, Helena, Mayslick Sardis and Murphysville precincts. These precincts were assessed by Deputy Assessor G. G. Kilpatrick, and the Board complimented him very highly for his excellent and thorough work.

STERLING SILVER SPOONS—To those who have not taken advantage of the low prices on silver spoons and forks will say that I still have some left and will continue to offer them at the same prices, which I will guarantee is from 15 to 25 per cent. less than any other house. P. J. MURPHY, the jeweler.

THE Democrats of Fleming County do not propose to allow Hon. R. K. Hart to retire to private life, notwithstanding the recent defeat for Congress, says the Frankfort correspondent of the Courier-Journal. Mr. Hart is being groomed for the next Legislature, and the indications are that he will be returned to the House.

AN excellent portrait of little Miss Mary Wood Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Brown, is to be seen in the show window at Nelson's, and a handsome portrait of the late Miss Daisy Hubbard is on exhibition in the window at Pecor's drug store. These portraits were executed by the Watters party and add to the reputation these artists have won for fine work.

MISSSES EMMA and Elizabeth Schwartz, of Second street, entertained last evening in honor of their guest, Miss Ida May Weber, of Newport. Those present were Misses Ida M. Weber, Emma and Elizabeth Schwartz, Emma and Louise Gable, Elizabeth and Mary Helmer, Julia Hancock, Louise Greenwood, Emma Brenner and Mrs. S. Otto; Messrs. George Smith, Charles Collins, Blair Tolle, William Schatzman, Robert Wise, G. Herbert Sarvis, of Wyoming, O., and E. Hall, of Boston, Mass.

THAT Vanceburg correspondent comes to the front again. He says: "There was born Monday to the wife of William Bellamy, a son, making the twelfth in as many years, and ten of whom are living. A few days ago there was born to John Cole's wife a pair of twins, making the second pair and being six children born to them in four years. Within a radius of two miles near Cole's home, on Kinniconnick creek, there are eight pairs of twins, two pairs at his house, one at Henry Sullivan's, one at Owen Osborne's, one at William Lile's, one at John Armstrong's, one at Westey Grimes' and one at Mat Armstrong's. The latter pair are named Grover Cleveland and Tom Paynter."
